Whittington Group appoints Director of Strategic Acquisitions for Asia Pacific

26 September 2008: Whittington Group, the international insurance investor and services provider, has announced that Kevin Lee Chung Wei has been appointed Director, Strategic Acquisitions, Whittington Asia Pacific. He will be based at the group's Asia headquarters in Singapore.

Kevin Lee has a background in investment banking, corporate finance and accountancy and joins Whittington with a significant track record in mergers and acquisitions across a diverse range of industries.

He joins the group from a leading international investment bank and he has previously worked for international accountancy firms like Deloitte and Arthur Andersen.

Whittington Group Chief Executive Tony Hobrow said: "I am very pleased that Kevin Lee decided to join Whittington Asia Pacific at this very busy time for our group in this dynamic region.

"It has long been our stated intention to build our business in the Asia Pacific region across a range of insurance 'lifecycle' businesses, from run off to start up and M&A work and Kevin joins a team already working very hard on a range of these activities."
